Hen. John M. Lan-den, Mayor, Cairo, Ill.:

DEAR SIE:—I beg leave to acknowledge your kind favor of the 16th inst., enclosing $500 generously donated by your people in aid of the sufferers by our late disastrous fire. The money has been placed in the hands of the Chicago relief and aid society for investment as needed. Please accept for yourself, and convey to the generous people of Cairo the hearty thanks and grateful acknowledgements of our distressed thousands, who are sustained in the hour of their afflictions by the cordial sympathy and substantial aid of their brothren throughout the country.

Very truly yours, R. B. Mason, Mayor.

As they rose, Mr. Robertson took aim and discharged both barrels of his gun, bringing to the ground fifty-six of the birds. This is a fact which the testimony of young Williams and the the bodies of the dead birds, has substantiated and placed entirely beyond question.

-We profess to be possessed of a remarkably well cultivated taste, and it is known very generally that we never profess to be more than we have a right to claim we are. Indeed, our claim to a cultivated taste, particularly in the matter of good victuals and many of them, has been always admitted by those people who have had the good fortune to claim us as a boarder. Being, as we have, said a person of cultivated taste, we wish to make Mr. Paul Schuh, the popular druggist, happy by informing him that his new drug store meets our approbation. We do not hesitate to say, (and we are very careful of our praising opinion), that he has a store room that any druggist should take pride in,-of which even we would be proud if we were in the drug business and owned that store It has been repainted, replastered, recountered, rebottled and renovated generally The floor has been covered with a neat oil cloth and matting, and neither expense nor time has been spared to adapt it to the business and make its appearance,-gen eral and in detail-pleasant to the eye.

Butter is easy and greasy, and may generally be classed under the head of "common." A roll of this kind, labelled "giltedged," rolled off the counter and walked out the door of a grocery located between Thirty-second street and Bird's Point. Our grocers deal in the other kind, and therefore win every time

Chickens and Eggs are in lively demand, but there is more life in the latter than the former. This is a fact undoubted, and it is generally admitted, also, that there are as many chickens in the eggs as eggs in the chickens.

Potatoes are reported dull with a full market. The smallest potato within our knowledge is Nabbler Mertz, the wouldbe radical senator, and that he is dull everybody knows.

Provisions are in good demand. A great many people are attempting to make provision for the future without success. If they continue to bow their "shoulders" to the task-to persevere-they will yet come out on the "clear side" of life.

For the last week everybody was san guine that there would be a fair boating stage from Evansville down, but their fond hopes have been blasted, for the Obje is falling again here, and has fallen over one inch during the 24 hours just past. There is a small rise at Evansville, but if our predictions are right it will be of short duration. At St. Louis the river is rising at the rate of seven inches a week The channel is a little improved, but is a long way from being in a decent condition, and boats still have their little misfortunes with the many sand bars that im pede the channel. The river from here to Memphis was improved a little by the late rise in the Ohio. Still, boats leaving here dare not load to more than 5 feet 2 inches. At Pitt-burg the river is on a stand, but the prospects for an early rise are good. At Cincinnati the river is rising a little. From Little Rock dispatches say that the river is still coming up to a fair stage. The Mississippi is falling at St. Paul and Dubuque, and rising at Quincy.

Business was not so brisk on the levce yesterday as it was the day before, still it was a long ways from being dull. The arrivals of steamers at this point is either a feast or a famine. Some days the wharves will be crowded and boats find some trouble in getting at the gangway and probably there will be but 3 or 4 arrivals the following day, however, we always have enough to keep business among our shippers good, and no cause for complaints are found. The weather yesterday was splendid and everything and everybody was lovely. The Silver Bow, from Vicksburg, had a medium trip. From one of her officers we learned that the yellow fever was still very bed and the people that could leave the city were doing so double quick.
